All Vice Chancellors and Registrars

(Technical Universities / Deemed-to-be-Universities/State Universities/Private Universities / Open Universities)

All Director/Principals of technical institutions in Engineering & Technology

Sir,

AICTE in its endeavour to improve the overall quality of technical education in the country, has taken some notable initiatives. The launch of Model Curriculum of UG and PG courses in Engineering & Technology by Shri Prakash Javadekar Ji, Hon'ble Minister of Human Resource Development, Government of India, during January 2018 was one such initiative. I am happy to inform you that this model curriculum, has already been adopted by many universities and institutions from this academic year.

In the same breath, for the benefit of students pursuing courses in engineering disciplines, books by Indian authors and publishers have been suggested by a committee of eminent experts, as per model curriculum of AICTE. I believe that these books drawing the experience of Indian authors and contextualized to Indian settings will definitely aid the students in better learning of the concepts and in turn improve their quality.

You will agree that these books by Indian authors and publishers need more encouragement among students and teachers and this will also prompt many Indian authors to pen new technical books and in new areas too, augmenting the horizon of technical education in the Indian scenario. I request you to impress upon the faculty and students in your university/ institution to refer to the books by Indian authors and publishers which are available on AICTE website.
